

Date: for immediate use

Game Developers make flash game to help film crews keep celeb's happy.

---

Screenshots available on request

Following Christian Bale's outburst at a director of photography Shane Hurlbut on the set of the new terminator movie T-Enterprise have released a new flash game giving budding crew members the chance learn how to try keep the prima donna star happy.

In the game the player must learn to keep Bale in the spotlight or face the consequences.

If you fail to keep the star in the limelight he gets more and more irate and is not afraid to let you hear it.

T-Enterprise's managing director Sadia Chishti said: "Bale's tantrum was so wild we thought that we should make a game to teach anyone who wants to work in Hollywood how to deal with egotistic stars.

"Hopefully no one else will get an earfull after training with our game."

Play the game for free at <http://t-enterprise.co.uk/lightscameratantrum>

T-Enterprise employs six people and works with businesses across the UK.

It makes fun, educational and topical games for businesses across the UK recently hitting the headlines with games such as Run Clarkson Run and byeDubya.

In another players had to help Gordon Brown shred sensitive data before the government lost it again.

NOTES FOR EDITORS

- For further information please call Leigh Simpson on 0141 771 9888 or press@t-enterprise.co.uk
- A company factfile and images are available at www.t-enterprise.co.uk/press
- Screen shots are available